

Fiscal Year 2024 Report to Congress

(July 2023–June 2024)

The CDC Foundation experienced a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2023–June 2024.

The CDC Foundation is an independent nonprofit and the sole entity created by Congress to mobilize philanthropic and private-sector resources to support the critical health protection work of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The CDC Foundation is focused on one priority—helping CDC improve the health and lives of people on a population basis. Since 1995, the CDC Foundation has launched more than 1,400 programs and raised more than $2.43 billion. The CDC Foundation managed 130 programs in the United States and in 108 countries last year.

The Foundation had a highly impactful fundraising and programmatic year during the period of July 1, 2023–June 30, 2024 (FY 2024) in its efforts to extend the lifesaving work of CDC and the public health system. Below are program highlights, financial highlights and a listing of funders. Additional financial information, including the Foundation’s audited financial statements and its annual tax information returns (Form 990) as well as more information on the Foundation’s programs and partners, is available on the Foundation’s website at www.cdcfoundation.org.

For the eighteenth year in a row, the CDC Foundation received a 4-star rating from Charity Navigator, the nation’s largest and most utilized evaluator of charities. In this latest evaluation, the Foundation received a perfect score of 100—the highest possible rating—for its financial efficiency, trustworthiness and transparency, as well as its leadership and adaptability.

Program Highlights

State Focus Strengthens Public Health Capacity

The health and safety of our nation depends, in large part, on the strength of public health infrastructure at all levels. The CDC Foundation is collaborating with state and local leaders in a number of jurisdictions in their efforts to transform and strengthen their public health systems.

This work began in Indiana following Gov. Eric Holcomb’s appointment of the CDC Foundation’s CEO, Dr. Judy Monroe, to co-chair the Governor’s Public Health Commission in 2021. Following the Commission’s recommendations, Indiana’s state legislature took steps to bolster public health. Their efforts are already demonstrating a cost saving for Indiana for three conditions being addressed: prenatal care, hypertension and fall prevention. Other areas of focus include maternal and child health, trauma and injury, chronic diseases and lead poisoning prevention, and access to clinical care. This effort is designed to ensure every state resident has access to core public health services. When the effort first launched, the CDC Foundation provided technical support to all 95 of the state’s local health departments, including budget justification and development, building connections, resource development and developing goals for key performance indicators to address the priority health conditions. The CDC Foundation also developed a survey to help the Indiana Department of Health monitor those indicators and to better gain insights into the impact Health First Indiana had on the state's public health system.

In Maryland, the CDC Foundation is supporting the Maryland Association of County Health Officers as they assess the state's foundational public health capacities through the Maryland Commission on Public Health. The commission is assessing the capabilities of state and local health departments in Maryland to address public health issues like maternal, child and family health, communicable disease control, chronic disease and injury prevention, and environmental public health.

Having a strong workforce in place also has been a critical issue for public health across the United States. In this regard, the CDC Foundation is supporting workforce capacity nationwide by recruiting, hiring, training and managing staff working on behalf of a wide range of public health departments. In June 2024, there were more than 580 CDC Foundation field staff working in all 50 states, helping to strengthen our country's public health system at the local and state levels.

Tackling Hunger and Nutrition in America Through Partnerships

Across the United States, millions of people continue to grapple with barriers to accessing nutritious food. It is well known that a key driver of the chronic disease burden in the United States is poor nutrition. Today, poor nutrition and food insecurity remain a pervasive challenge, demanding bold and unified solutions. The CDC Foundation is committed to working with jurisdictions and partners to support strategies to address this problem.

To optimize the potential synergy of collaborative partnerships, the CDC Foundation created and leads and manages the Hunger, Nutrition and Health Action Collaborative. The Collaborative, highlighted through the new www.impacthunger.org website, enables individuals and organizations to identify, share and leverage innovations.

The Action Collaborative unites diverse public and private partnerships—healthcare systems, faith-based organizations, academic institutions, philanthropic groups and community-based organizations—to ensure everyone has access to healthy, affordable and nutritious food and to end hunger. By raising awareness, fostering partnerships, supporting local hunger initiatives, elevating community voices and targeting special needs like maternal health through the Nutrition in Pregnancy Action Network, the CDC Foundation is working with partners to create healthier communities. Innovative actions such as the role of pharmacists in the food is medicine movement are key to success, and the Foundation team is actively connecting partners to advance these innovations.

Developing the Next Generation of Public Health Workforce

The establishment of the Oz Nelson Public Health Academy Endowed Fund marks a meaningful milestone in the CDC Foundation's and CDC's shared commitment to public health education and workforce development.

This $2.5 million endowment, created in memory of Kent C. "Oz" Nelson, former CEO and chairman of UPS and former CDC Foundation board chair, will ensure the long-term sustainability and growth of the CDC Museum Public Health Academy. Through the David J. Sencer CDC Museum, the Public Health Academy has been focusing on critical workforce development needs by creating immersive learning experiences for high school students. These experiences include a week-long summer Disease Detective Camp that simulates CDC's epidemiology, laboratory and public communications activities during a mock disease outbreak.

But what started as a focused summer program has flourished into a more comprehensive educational program featuring an online course, engaging teen newsletters and specialized science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) resources for educators.

Mobilizing Communities to Reduce Overdose Deaths

The overdose epidemic killed more than 100,000 people in the United States last year, according to CDC's 2023 provisional data. But drug overdose deaths dropped 17 percent in the United States between July 2023 to July 2024—the largest decrease on record.

The CDC Foundation's Overdose Response Strategy (ORS) program is an innovative partnership between public health and public safety that is working at the community level to help reduce drug overdoses. Currently, there are 61 two-person ORS teams across the United States and its territories who gather and analyze data on overdoses and advise jurisdictions on the latest prevention, protection and harm reduction strategies, like increasing access to naloxone—the emergency medicine designed to rapidly reverse an opioid overdose.

Also, as part of CDC's Overdose Data to Action (OD2A) program, the CDC Foundation in fiscal year 2024 supported more than 70 field staff stationed across 45 jurisdictions who employ various data types to enhance drug overdose prevention efforts and are working on behalf of health departments across the nation. Staff assist with essential public health responses, provide clinicians with the data they need to improve prescribing practices and foster coordination across sectors to support access to treatment and long-term recovery. These programs enable rural and urban communities to adapt prevention strategies to local needs, where access to care and the overdose epidemic vary widely.

Portions of the ORS project mentioned are supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) as part of a financial assistance award totaling $11,000,000 with 100 percent funded by CDC/HHS. The OD2A staffing support program is supported by CDC of the U.S. HHS as part of a financial assistance award totaling $35,599,796 with 100 percent funded by CDC/HHS. The contents are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily represent the official views of, nor an endorsement by, CDC/HHS or the U.S. Government.

Building Lab Capacity in Puerto Rico

Since 2022, the CDC Foundation has partnered with the Puerto Rico Department of Health Molecular Diagnostics Laboratory to build their capacity to respond quickly to epidemiologic outbreaks. Initially intended to bolster COVID-19 testing capacity, the partnership has evolved to address ongoing needs by improving and updating lab equipment, procuring vital lab supplies and contracting for repair and maintenance of lab equipment, expanding the reach of the lab's services while reducing wait times for vital supplies.

Set to continue through 2026, the collaboration between the Puerto Rico Advanced Molecular Diagnostics Lab, the CDC Foundation and dedicated vendors exemplifies a model of effective partnership and procurement, supporting a lab that can help keep Puerto Rico safe as well as acting as a sentinel lab for diseases, such as dengue, that can have an impact on southern states. This partnership is funded by the Puerto Rico Department of Health.

Sharing Death Data for Public Health

Medical examiner and coroner offices conduct medicolegal death investigations (MDIs) to determine the cause and manner of sudden, unexpected deaths, including from biological threats such as anthrax. Sharing up-to-date information with public health and other partners is critical.

MDI Connect—a forum for medical examiner and coroner offices and their data sharing partners and software vendors—provides a platform these investigators can use to streamline data exchange, making it easier for their electronic systems to link and communicate in real time. With the support of CDC, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and Bloomberg Philanthropies, the upgrades help public health officials mount a more rapid response to health threats in their community and allows grieving families faster access to death certificates.

More than a dozen states have received funding to implement data modernization projects. The CDC Foundation provides technical support for participating MDI offices and has created a website and videos to increase awareness of the project and demonstrate feasibility.

This project, the Medical Examiner and Coroner Data Modernization Implementers Group, is supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) as part of a financial assistance award totaling $2,726,393 with 100 percent funded by CDC/HHS. The contents are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily represent the official views of, nor an endorsement by, HHS/CDC or the U.S. Government.

This Medicolegal Death Investigation Novel Data Modernization Initiative project is funded by Bloomberg Philanthropies from a grant to the CDC Foundation.

A Unique Approach to Vaccine Delivery

Measles is considered one of the world's most contagious diseases, posing a significant global health risk. The two-dose measles and rubella vaccine is 97 percent effective against measles, but delivering this injectable vaccine around the world can be challenging.

With support from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, researchers at CDC, Micron Biomedical Inc., the Medical Research Council Unit The Gambia at the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine and the CDC Foundation completed the phase 1/phase 2 trial of the measles and rubella microarray patch in The Gambia, West Africa. Roughly the size of a silver dollar and coated with microscopic needles that painlessly and quickly deliver the vaccine, the microarray patch is easier to transport and administer than injectable vaccines. In the trial, more than 90 percent of infants were protected from measles, and 100 percent were protected from rubella through the patch—a promising tool in the ongoing fight against this global health threat.

Financial Information

For the year ending June 30, 2024, total grants and contributions received by the CDC Foundation were $213.4 million and consisted of: $31.3 million from foundations; $12.0 million from other organizations and individuals; $2.8 million from corporations; and $167.3 million in federal, state and jurisdictional grants and contracts. The majority of these contributions were restricted to the following program focus areas: $24.1 million to infectious disease; $28.2 million to emergency preparedness and response; $6.1 million to global health; $17.51 million to chronic disease and birth defects; $102.8 million for public health workforce; $27.3 million for injury and violence (including programming to reduce opioid overdoses); and $7.40 million to other areas.

The Foundation also received federal funding of $1.25 million for the year ending June 30, 2024, to help defray administrative costs to the Foundation. This funding was primarily used to fund the costs of the staff who were responsible for building the partnerships that generated $213.4 million in support of expanded programming for CDC.

The Foundation is the recipient of certain cost-reimbursable grants that are subject to conditions and restrictions typically met by incurring qualifying expenses for a program. Revenue is recognized for these grants as allowable expenditures are incurred. Of the $213.4 million of grants and contributions received in Fiscal Year 2024, $120.6 million represents conditional cost reimbursement grants that will be recognized as contribution revenue in future periods. As of June 30, 2024, the Foundation had total assets of $166.3 million; total liabilities of $18.5 million; and total net assets of $147.8 million. The majority of these net assets were restricted by the donors to fund specific projects for CDC or the public health system. For the year ending June 30, 2024, the Foundation generated total contributions and other revenues for financial reporting purposes of $195.7 million and incurred total program costs and other expenses of $207.6 million. These program costs and other expenses consisted of $34.3 million in project grants; $151 million in other program costs (primarily for workforce solutions and capacity building for opioid response); $18.8 million for management and general expenses; and $3.5 million in fundraising costs.

Contributions to the CDC Foundation are directed independently by donors through the following online platforms:

During fiscal year 2024, individuals made contributions through the platforms listed below. The listing order for each platform is based on the order in which they appear in the report and does not represent a ranking of contribution amounts provided through each platform. These platforms are selected by contributors and not by the CDC Foundation. In some cases, the platform has been selected by an employer to make a matching contribution on behalf of an employee.
